

This research aims to identify the affected training Ableomtry on some physiological variables and distance of flight in the skill of the arrow and this sample was chosen in the manner intentionally from the fourth year students, Faculty of Physical Education, Benha University, and the 22 Talibokd research found that training Ableomtry works on capacity development physiological in Sports arms and helps improve muscular power and functional efficiency for the players